

ALMATY CITY MEDIATION

From April 29 to May 1, 2019, the Department of Architecture hosted an international workshop "Urban Mediation in Almaty" with participation of Michael Oades, an architect and assistant professor at Nottingham University, UK, and Timothy Owen, an architect.

Thanks to participation of teachers and volunteer students, a convenient platform for creative work of our participants was prepared.

Participants of the workshop - students of 3, 4 courses of DA and college - developed a project of landscape organization of the territory of KazGASA campus.

Students were divided into 5 thematic groups at will: some students walked and photographed areas of the territory of KazGASA; others studied Urban context - how the campus "lives" in the system of district - city; cartographers Nolly - considered localization of public facilities; there were those who created a detailed model of campus - the team of Site Modelling; and Survey group conducted both a full-scale and electronic survey of students, teachers and residents of area around the academy to find out all the pros and cons of the site.

At the end of each day, all the team members' ideas and plans were presented, so that students could get recommendations and comments. The result of three days of painstaking work was presentation of 4 completely different and interesting sketch projects.
